

Style guide

Narration leads

Story text is never boxed. Everything else steps back from it.

Fill, not lines

No borders, dividers or shadows. Layers are told apart by steps of surface fill.

Amber means "you"

Amber is reserved for primary actions and moments that need the player.

Rain finds its way through the broken roof and gathers in the nave, ankle-deep and black.

A drowned coast of bell towers and tide-cults.

Narration streams in. Its event line fades in 200ms after the passage finishes.

Vitals count to the new value over 400ms.

Illustrations fade in over 300ms into their reserved space.

Roll tumbles the die for 600ms with a light haptic on landing.

Respect Reduce Motion: swap these for simple fades.
